SELLER'S QUALITY CONTROL REQUIREMENTS - TUBES

Seller shall maintain quality controls that ensure all goods and services conform to Contract requirements whether manufactured or processed by Seller or procured from Seller's subcontractors or vendors. The Seller is responsible for performing or assuring all inspections, tests, and calibration necessary to substantiate that the goods or services furnished conform to Contract requirements. Records of conformance shall be maintained on file at the Seller's facility and made available or provided for review by Buyer upon request. Seller's facilities and quality records are subject to Buyer review. Seller shall take prompt action to correct conditions that have or could result in goods or services that do not conform to contractual requirements.

MMS1205 and DMS2241 materials used to satisfy this contract must be from approved/qualified sources identified by the MMS1205 and DMS2241 specifications. Each shipment to Buyer must include a Certificate of Conformance that attests to the specific approved/qualified source(s) of the materials used.
