- (3) "Foreign sources" are those sources (vendors, subcontractors, and suppliers) owned and controlled by a foreign person.

(b) The Contractor shall place a clause in subcontracts containing appropriate export control restrictions, set forth in this clause.

(c) Nothing in this clause waives any requirement imposed by any other U.S. Government agency with respect to employment of foreign nationals or export controlled data and information.

(d) Equipment and technical data generated or delivered under this contract are controlled by the International Traffic in Arms Regulation (ITAR), 22 CFR Sections 121 through 128. An export license is required before assigning any foreign source to perform work under this contract or before granting access to foreign persons to any equipment and technical data generated or delivered during performance (see 22 CFR Section 125). The contractor shall notify the Contracting Officer and obtain written approval of the Contracting Officer prior to assigning or granting access to any work, equipment, or technical data generated or delivered under this contract to foreign persons or their representatives. The notification shall include the name and country of origin of the foreign person or representative, the specific work, equipment, or data to which the person will have access, and whether the foreign person is cleared to have access to technical data (DoD 5220.22-M, National Industrial Security Program Operating Manual (NISPOM)).

EGLIN-H009 Contractor Accountability for Performance (EMD Phases 1 & 2/Production) (APR 2012) . (In this clause, the terms "Government," "Contracting Officer," "contractor," and "subcontractor" shall be revised to suitably identify the contracting parties hereto and effect the proper intent of the clause except where further clarified or modified below. In the second sentence in paragraph (b), the opening phrase, i.e., "While the contractor's SPS will be placed on contract under Section J, Attachment 4," is deleted. In accordance with paragraph (a), Seller shall include this clause in subcontracts with sub-tier suppliers producing critical subsystem items.)

(a) The Government and the contractor shall jointly manage the configuration of the production and test items through a Joint Configuration Control Board process after the contractor has successfully established the product baseline. This process shall encompass not only configuration control at the prime contractor level, but shall also be used to ensure insight into configuration management at the subcontractor levels. As such, the B61-12 TKA contractor shall ensure this provision is included in all 1st tier subcontracts and is further flowed down to any sub-tier suppliers producing critical subsystem items. For the purposes of this clause, critical subsystem item is defined as the as the subsystems and elements listed in Table 1.0 below.

Table 1.0 - B61-12 TKA Critical Subsystems

Subsystem	Elements
Electronics Unit	Mission Computer, Memory, Circuitry, Power
Control/Actuators	Actuator
Guidance Unit	IMU, Processor

(b) The Government shall have configuration control at the system level (functional baseline) for production and test items through approval of the system performance specification (SPS) and all changes thereto. While the contractor's SPS will be placed on contract under Section J, Attachment 4, the Government will not approve the SPS until the Critical Design Review (CDR) is successfully completed. The contractor shall manage the configuration of the allocated (describes design requirements for items below system level) and product (describes product physical details) baselines, with the opportunity to approve Class II changes to either baseline. The Government shall approve Class I changes to the allocated and product baselines as described below. In addition, the Government shall approve deviations to include waivers.

(c) The contractor shall establish both the allocated and the product baseline before the start of production activities. After the establishment of the baselines, Class I changes and all requests for deviations to the allocated or product baselines shall not be implemented until approved by the Government. The Government shall approve the classification (Class I or Class II) of all engineering change proposals (ECPs). Once the Government approves the classification of proposed ECPs, the contractor may implement the Class II ECPs at their discretion. In this context, a change to the allocated or product baselines will be considered a Class I change if, in the Government's determination, the change would affect the following:

- (1) Government furnished equipment/property.
- (2) Safety or safety critical items.

- (3) Compatibility, interoperability or logistics support.
- (4) Delivered technical manuals for which changes are not funded.
- (5) Requires retrofit of delivered units.
- (6) Interchangeability, substitutability, or replaceability of any item down to nonrepairable subassemblies.
- (7) Sources on a source control drawing.
- (8) Skill requirements, training or manning to field personnel.
- (9) Increased costs to the Government on current or future contracts.
- (10) Operational procedures.
- (11) Nuclear Certification.

(d) To facilitate Government determination of ECP classification, the contractor shall submit a preliminary engineering change proposal (PECP) for all contractor proposed changes. In order to expedite the change approval process, the Government shall have ten (10) business days from receipt of the PECP to notify the contractor of the change classification decision. Proposed changes classified by the Government as Class II may be pursued by the contractor upon receipt of the Government classification decision. Proposed changes classified by the Government as Class I must be submitted via an ECP to the affected baseline and, if approved by the Government, incorporated into the contract prior to implementation. Notwithstanding any other clause of the contract, no change to the specifications proposed by the contractor in order to permit achievement of the contractual requirements shall entitle the contractor to any increase in the unit prices, or to any extensions in the delivery schedule, neither shall disapproval by the Government of a proposed change entitle the contractor to relief from meeting any contractual requirement.

(e) For each Class I ECP, the contractor shall assume that adequate ground tests, flight tests and other nuclear certification activities will need to be completed to verify system-level SPS compliance. Further, the contractor shall be responsible for updating and distributing all system documentation as required to all users, to include technical manuals. The required number and design of verification tests shall be commensurate with the potential impact of the proposed change on the weapon functional baseline and also be subject to Government determination as part of the Government assessing the Class I ECP. The contractor shall ensure changes are proposed in time to allow for review, approval, assessment of the impact to nuclear certification, determination of testing and conduct of testing prior to implementing the change.

(f) The Government will provide support, and pay the Government test costs, for up to three (3) flight tests per production lot for contractor initiated changes. Any verification/nuclear certification activities associated with contractor initiated changes that are not validated within these flight tests shall be the responsibility of the contractor.

(1) For the flight tests, the Government will provide flight test aircraft and test ranges.

The Government will repeat any test that did not meet test objectives due to malfunction of the Government provided test support.

(2) The contractor will provide all other resources to support the verification/nuclear certification test (to include production and provision of the test assets, contractor test support and data analysis) to reflect the configuration change. This includes engineering analysis that may be required to obtain approval to conduct the test on Government test ranges.

(g) The contractor shall establish a Configuration Status Accounting (CSA) process. The CSA process shall include a contractor accounting system that includes:

(1) A record of approved configuration documentation and identification numbers.

(2) The status of proposed ECPs, change documents, and deviations to the configuration.

(3) The implementation status of approved changes (Class I or Class II). (4) The configuration of all hardware (units) and software of the configuration item in the operational inventory.
