IMPORTATION OF RADIO FREQUENCY DEVICES

All radio frequency devices imported into the United States are subject to Federal Communications Commission (FCC) requirements; therefore, Seller shall comply with all FCC regulations, and all radio frequency devices delivered to Buyer shall, prior to Customs, be properly certified and labeled in accordance with FCC regulations. The certification label shall contain all FCC-required information, including, but not limited to, (1) trade name, (2) model number and (3) statement that the product is in compliance with FCC requirements. This label is in addition to that required for Customs marking purposes.
