

CODE 21A
MANUFACTURERS CERTIFICATION OF INSPECTION AND TEST PERFORMED

Seller shall include, with each shipment of articles ordered hereunder, a Certification of Conformance stating that all devices conform in their entirety with Buyer's governing Specification Control Drawing (SCD), and have been accepted by Seller's final inspection function. Said dated certification must be signed or stamped by Seller's Quality Assurance Manager or an authorized delegate.

Test records shall be maintained by Seller, and made available to Buyer upon request. The data will verify that all specified test requirements have been performed and shall include, but not be limited to, test parameters and related limits; test set-up; test methods; and test results.

Deviations from specification requirements are not authorized unless documented in writing by Seller and approved by Buyer prior to shipment of product hereunder.

The Certification of Conformance shall include, but not be limited to, the following:

1. Buyer's Purchase Order Number.
2. Buyer's specification number and revision level.
3. Manufacturer's part number (if different than Buyer's specification number).
4. Applicable date codes or lot identification numbers.
