In consideration of cost savings achieved by combining the US and FMS requirements, and the benefit to the Government of continuation of the production line, Seller is hereby authorized to use any Production and Research property, including special tooling and test equipment (STTE,) to which the Government has title or the right to acquire title, which may later be transferred to this contract. Government-furnished Material (GFM) provided for aircraft production is excluded.

Obsolescence

This clause applies if this Contract is for electronic parts or assemblies containing electronics parts.

Obsolescence is defined as occurring when an indented electronic component is no longer in production by the original manufacturer. Diminishing Manufacturing Sources (DMS) is defined as an item out of production other than an indented electronic component and is outside this flow down.

Seller shall minimize the impact of all known obsolescence issues from design through support. Seller shall choose components with reasonable life cycle expectancy during design, and shall regularly monitor the obsolescence status of component content in the equipment. It is recommended that

Seller use one or more third party obsolescence monitoring applications specific for this purpose. Seller shall cooperate with Buyer to resolve obsolescence issues, including, but not limited to, providing responses to reasonable requests for information or clarification related to the obsolescence and evaluating Buyer input on obsolescence matters.

Seller shall provide an Equipment Parts List (EPL) in accordance with SDRL 1300 (if included as a requirement in this Contract). The EPL should be updated if changes to the parts list are made, except if a Class I or II change has been previously submitted, showing the part(s) that have been changed. These EPLs will be used by Buyer solely for purposes of managing obsolescence

Seller shall notify Buyer of any obsolescence issue, even if the issue solely impacts a timeframe that exceeds the period of performance of this Contract. This includes, but is not limited to, cases in which Seller possesses adequate part inventory to meet the obligations of this Contract but there is a known issue with future procurement of parts, any instances in which a manufacturer has announced an End of Life (EOL) or Last Time Buy (LTB) opportunity, any issues resulting from the sub-tier suppliers End of Life or GIDEP notifications, any Obsolescence Bridge Buys or Life of Type/Life of Need buys, prior to executing, and any past LTBs where current available stock does not or may not cover anticipated need requirements. Seller shall provide Buyer's Authorized Procurement Representative with status of remaining lifetime buy parts as requested (parts available in stock at the supplier or the supplier's subcontractors).

Seller shall immediately define the shortage by providing Buyer with the indentured electronic component manufacturer part number (OEM), affected end item part number, affected end item nomenclature, and components per end item; and,

Seller shall provide evidence that a prudent effort was made to identify and implement an alternate part (i.e. parts that are technically and physically compatible with hardware design.). If alternate part was implemented, Seller shall provide the alternate manufacturer part number (OEM); and,

If an alternate part was not identified and implemented, Seller shall determine whether there is an opportunity for a last time buy. Seller shall provide the last time buy date and notification, attrition rate of indentured electronic component, replacements to date of indentured electronic component, and SPEC mean time between failures of indentured electronic component to Buyer. Responsibility of last time buys (for which Seller does not have a contract) shall be addressed on a case by case basis. Seller shall procure last time buy inventory to support any accepted Contracts.

Seller assumes responsibility for identification, notification, and resolution of obsolescence issues to Buyer. Seller shall flow all requirements in this clause to all subcontractors at all tiers above the piece part level.
