EEE PART FRESHNESS – 7 YEARS

Electrical, Electronic and Electro-Mechanical (EEE) parts with date codes more than 7 (seven) years old shall not be delivered unless they have successfully undergone recertification through a recertification process that has been approved by Buyer in advance.

A part is classified as EEE if it is designed to carry a current or hold a voltage. A part is one or more pieces joined together, which are not normally subject to disassembly without destruction or impairment of intended design use. A circuit assembly consisting of individually packaged parts on a printed circuit board or other assemblies are not defined as a “part” for purposes of imposing this freshness requirement.
